Delegate booking about to go live for UKNARIC19 annual conference: reserve your place

Delegate booking will go live and online for the UKNARIC19 annual conference at 12 noon on Wednesday 3 July. You can book your complimentary or paid-for places for yourself and for colleagues. The link to our online booking pages will be live and visible on our main conference web page from Wednesday onwards.

The UKNARIC19 overarching theme is: 'Vision. Values. Impact.' There will be strong strands of content on branding, brand values, and how you can project your institutional identity internationally - international education operates in a wider context of trade and diplomacy, but is of itself 'an ambassador' for broader values.

New opportunities for international partnerships and collaborations will feature, with clear potential for student recruitment. READ MORE

Brexit: professional qualification recognition and accredited degrees – free webinar

UK NARIC's Centre for Professional Qualifications (CPQ) is running a free 40-minute webinar on 16 July (11am start) on the potential consequences of Brexit for professional qualification recognition - in particular, in relation to accredited degrees in professional subjects. This makes the webinar especially relevant to universities and educational institutions offering such degree courses.

Email events@naric.org.uk to reserve your place. You will be emailed later with joining instructions.

With ongoing uncertainty surrounding Brexit, this webinar will look at ways of overcoming potential recognition challenges. READ MORE
